Due to being a teacher, Jamie is only able to travel during school holidays. Being that she is traveling alone for the first time, she has opted for a low budget accommodation in her home province of the Free State just in case anything should happen or she needs assistance from her family.

The budget she has chosen also reflects the new solo travel journey she is embarking on to test out the waters without too heavy costs.

Jamie has decided on an Apartment rental in Clarens. This is perfect as Clarens is not entirely secluded and she can have the safety of being around people, as she is solo traveling as a young woman in South Africa, while having easy access to the Golden Gate National Park where she is able to hike the many trails, and explore vegetation and mountain views.

She only needs basic amenities which the apartment offers.

The town of Clarens itself offers a great deal of content opportunities for her to experience and capture.

She has decided on a Central location in Greenpoint where her family can enjoy easy access to the various activities but not too deep within the city center that her family's peace would be disturbed by noise especially at night.

They also have very easy access to various restaurants all within walking distance from the house so they save on travel costs for the duration of their stay.
